The Chelsea Society Annual Report Submission guidelines for articles

Articles are to be on or about Chelsea and the objects of The Chelsea Society founded in 1927 by local historian Reginald Blunt. The Society's aim is to protect the interests of all those who live, learn and work here and to preserve and enhance the unique character of Chelsea.

Themes worth considering:

- Historical
- Contemporary
- Social interest
- Theatre
- Pubs
- Art
- Architecture
- Army, soldiers
- Education
- Gardening
- Transport
- Environment
- Living in Chelsea
- Working in Chelsea

It is of course possible to merge a number of themes.

Articles can be prose or poetry.

Articles can be non - fiction or fiction. If the latter, fiction, they do have to be closely connected and relevant to Chelsea.

Articles can be illustrated or even just illustrative with a short commentary. Line drawings, photographs, reproductions of your art are all accepted.

We don't have stringent rules about the length of submissions and would like to compile a journal that comprises both short and long pieces. Often shorter articles are easy to read and write. However, sometimes an in-depth article is required due to the topic. Please get in touch with us regarding the length prior to writing your article.

The Annual Report has been published since 1928 and we have access to this wonderfully informative library. If you would like to check if the particular topic you are planning to write about has already been covered or perhaps use a previous item as a reference in your article here is a link to the Annual Report index <http://chelseasociety.org.uk/annual-reports/>

We reserve the right to edit articles and we cannot guarantee that all submissions will be published.

We require permission and copyright for all images and articles. Please note articles may be published in the Annual Report or on our website.

We happily accept advertising too. Please contact us to discuss advertising specifications and rates.
